BETTER GAMES WITH MOIST BALL BARRED

Pitcher Quinn Says Fielders Won't Have So Wild.

Farmer Farmer Takes Appointment of Spartan Physiologically, but Is Afraid There Will Be Too Much Hitting.

Jack Quinn, Toledo pitcher, takes a view of the appointment of the spit ball which is essentially that of a spit ball pitcher. He doesn't mind its passing far away from his mark, but if it hits the fielder in the proper spot, not at home the time will be too much hitting without it. The point is that the games at present are just about right and such scores as 8 to 2 which will be more frequent under the new rules, will send fans out of the stands before the game is over.

Spit is right in one way, says a writer in the Buffalo Courier. A perfession of ruse is not wanted by the fans. No age considers games. There's no dissatisfaction with scores as they are and no demand for any marked increase in hitting. But the fan does object to pinching by other than natural means, hence his hostility to the spit ball, stone ball, ebony ball, thumb ball and all the hybrid ilk.

For aesthetic reasons, if for no other, the spit ball should have been thrown from the soft heap, but there's still another benefit its knocking out will bring. The game will be better off because the fielding will be cleaner and consecutive long drawn out games will be missing. There will be many less wild throws with no slippery ball to throw. Every individual in the big league will rejoice when the time comes that the specter of getting hold of a saliva ball and flinging it over a baseball's head no longer haunts him.

PAY OF OLD TIMERS

In these days when scores of players are receiving more than $2,000 a season it is refreshing to look back some 50 years to the day when Old Hoss Radbourne signed his first major league contract for $750.

Radbourne was unquestionably the greatest pitcher of his time.
It was he who developed the curve ball that Mack Mann, Arthur Cummings, Jim Devlin and other pitchers had experimented with. It was he who first utilized a change of pace, and who originated the idea of walking a heavy batter to take a chance with a lighter one.

DIAMOND NOTES

George Less, utility catcher, has been signed by the Chicago White Sox.

Wade Killefer is highly elated over the deal that gave him Jimmy Mc-Auley.

The Indianapolis club has purchased Pitcher Turkey Bowman from the Little Rock club.

The Portland club has surrendered its rights to Pitcher George Pennington to the Hartford club.

Pitcher Herb Hall will not report to Kansas City, but will pitch for an independent team in Logansport, Ind.

Claude Hendrix is one pitcher who now we will not lose his effectiveness as a pitcher by the abolition of the spitball.

The St. Paul club avoided controversies over contracts by not sending out the papers until the last week of February.

The St. Louis Browns have quite a colony of former Joplin players on their squad, including Roy Sanders, Maple, Burwell, Collins and Thompson.

Year, but Mr. McCormick Was Cured Promptly.

"I had stomach trouble and constipation for five years. One year of this time I was unable to work, suffering constant ague. I suffered with some of the best surgeons, and took many proprietary medicines, but could not find permanent relief. Finally a friend recommended Milk Emulsion. The first few doses relieved me greatly, and three bottles of it afforded a permanent cure." —J. A. McCormick, Anderson, Ind.

Mr. McCormick is only one of many individuals who have enjoyed success from and now recommend Milk Emulsion gives instant relief and rest, lasting length. It costs nothing in Dr.
